Dr. Albert Wang and Anna Wang Physician, Community Activists and Supporters of Public Education

We, at ACOE, are delighted to honor Dr. Albert Wang and Anna Wang as recipients of the 2007 Excellence in Education Award. Congratulations, as Albert and Anna are extremely deserving of the honor.

Albert and Anna are respected and beloved members of the Fremont community, two leaders who are the epitome dedication and persistence. Albert and Anna have worked tirelessly to address challenges parents of “children with special needs” face by working to create programs and organizations that model excellence in education. Their work is far-reaching, demonstrating to us all the importance of thinking globally while working to make a difference in the lives of our neighbors locally. They are respected leaders in the Chinese as well as the broader educational community.

Albert and Anna were leaders in the creation of Friends of Children with Special Needs (FCSN), a school and community organization whose mission is to ensure that families of special needs students find the love, hope, respect, and support they deserve through integrated community involvement.

Included in the many commitments that Albert and Anna share is the priority of supporting the Fremont Unified School District, sharing their considerable expertise and knowledge by serving on a myriad of committees.

We, at ACOE, congratulate Albert and Anna for their commitment and hard work, and we look forward to supporting the two of you as you continue to confront new challenges.
